The Fifteen Mysteries of the ROSARY

from: The World's First Love, Mary the Mother of God,
by, Archbishop Fulton J. Sheen

The Rosary relates the Christian life to that of Mary. The three great mysteries of the Rosary — the Joyful, the Sorrowful, and the Glorious — are the brief description of earthly life contained in the Creed: birth, struggle, and victory. Joyful: “Born of the Virgin Mary”. Sorrowful: “Suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, died and was buried”. Glorious: “The third day He arose again from the dead, sitteth at the right hand of God, the Father Almighty.”

The Annunciation. In human love man desires, woman gives. In Divine Love, God seeks, the soul responds. God asks Mary to give Him a human nature with which He may start a new humanity. Mary agrees. A woman's role is to be the medium by which God comes to man.

The Visitation. Love that refuses to share kills its own power to love. Mary not only wants others to share her love but also her Beloved. She brings Christ to souls before Christ is born. The Gospel tells us that on seeing Mary, Elizabeth was “filled with the Holy Ghost.”

The Nativity. As the Virgin conceived Our Lord without the lusts of the flesh, so now she brings Him forth in joy without the labors of the flesh. It is only her other children of the Spirit, which she will bring forth at Calvary, who will cause her pain.

And the sign by which men would know He is God was that He would be wrapped in swaddling clothes.

The Presentation. Mary submits to the general laws of Purification, from which she was really free, lest she should scandalize by the premature discovery of the secret entrusted to her keeping. Simeon tells her that her Son is to be contradicted — the sign of contradiction is the Cross — and a sword her own heart shall pierce.

Finding of the Child Jesus in the Temple. It is so easy to lose Christ; He can be lost by even a little heedlessness; a little want of watchfulness, and the Divine presence slips away. But sometimes a reconciliation is sweeter than an unbroken friendship. There are two ways of knowing how good God is: one is never to lose Him; the other is to lose Him and find Him again.

The Agony in the Garden. Our fellow creatures can help us only when our needs are human. But in an hour of our greatest need, some of them betray and others sleep. In the really deep agony, we must cry to God. “Being in agony, He prayed.”

The Scourging at the Pillar. More than 700 years before, Isaiah prophesied the laceration of Our Lord's sacred body, “here is one despised, left out of all human reckoning, bowed with misery, and no stranger to weakness; how should we recognize that face?” ... He delivers His sacred body to the lash until “His bones could be numbered” and His flesh hung from Him like purple rags.”

The Crowning with Thorns. The Savior of the world is made a puppet for those who play the fool: the King of Kings is mocked by those who will have “no King but Caesar”. Thorns were part of the original curse upon the earth. Even nature, through sinful men, rebels against God. If Christ wears a crown of thorns, shall we covet a crown of laurel?

The Crucifixion. Once nailed to the Cross and “lifted up to draw all men to Himself”, He is taunted: “Others He saved, Himself He cannot save.” Of course not!

This is not weakness but obedience to the law of sacrifice.

The Resurrection. Easter Sunday was not within three days of the Transfiguration but within three days of Good Friday. Love is not to be measured by the joys and pleasures it gives but by the ability to draw joy out of sorrow.

The Ascension. In Heaven there is now a human nature like our own, the promise of what ours will one day be if we follow His Way. Thanks to this human nature,

He will always have a deep sympathy for us, even “making intercession for us.”

The Descent of the Holy Ghost upon the Apostles. As the Son of God, in the Incarnation, took upon Himself a human body from the womb of the Blessed Mother overshadowed by the Holy Spirit, so now on Pentecost He takes from the womb of humanity a Mystical Body, as the Holy Spirit overshadowed the 12 Apostles with “Mary in the midst of them abiding in prayer.”

The Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary into Heaven. Mary was not a rose in which Divinity reposed for a time; she was the canal through which God came to us. Mary could no longer live without the Dream she brought forth, nor could the Dream live without her, body and soul. Her love of God bore her upward; His love of His Mother lifted her upward.

The Coronation of the Blessed Virgin. Our Lord comes back to us again through Mary as Queen of Heaven, passing His life and His blessing through her hands as the Mediatrix of all graces. He came through her in Bethlehem; through her, we go back to Him — and through her He comes back to us. +++
